LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE

Put your long-term care policy to work, at home.

If your loved one paid into a long-term care policy, it may cover most or all of the cost of care at home. We help you use it: verifying benefits, setting up a call with your carrier, helping with the claim forms, and billing the insurer directly if you'd like.

WHEN DOES A POLICY START PAYING?

Usually once help is needed with 2 of these 6, or with a cognitive impairment such as dementia.

- Bathing
- Dressing
- Eating
- Toileting
- Transferring
- Continence

A licensed professional certifies this. It's called meeting the policy's "benefit trigger."

TWO WAYS TO USE YOUR BENEFITS

Direct billing

You sign an assignment of benefits and we bill the insurance company directly. As long as care stays within what the policy pays, you have nothing out of pocket.

Pay, then get reimbursed

You pay our regular rate, and we give you itemized paid invoices and the paperwork to send to your carrier.

WORDS YOU'LL SEE ON ALMOST EVERY POLICY

TERM	WHAT IT MEANS
Elimination period	A waiting period, often 30, 60 or 90 days, that you pay for before benefits begin. Like a deductible, measured in days.
Daily or monthly maximum	The most the policy pays per day or month. Care above that amount is the family's responsibility.
Benefit period	How long benefits last (such as 3 years), or the total dollar amount the policy will pay over its life.
Inflation protection	An option that grows the daily benefit over time to keep up with care costs. Many older policies include it.

Bring the policy to your free in-home assessment and we'll walk through it with you before you commit to anything.

VA BENEFITS

Many veterans and surviving spouses qualify for help paying for care at home.

There are two main paths: care the VA arranges for you, or a monthly cash benefit called Aid & Attendance that the family can use toward home care.

Aid & Attendance

A monthly, tax-free payment added to a VA pension

- Wartime-era service, or a surviving spouse who hasn't remarried
- Help needed with at least two daily activities
- Net worth under the VA's yearly limit (about $163,700 in 2026; your home, one vehicle and belongings don't count)
- The VA looks back 3 years at asset transfers

The money is the veteran's to use as they choose, including for care from us. Filed directly by the veteran or survivor, or with help from a Veterans Service Officer.

Care the VA arranges

Community Care, Homemaker & Home Health Aide, Veteran-Directed Care

- Requires enrollment in VA health care (Form 10-10EZ)
- Starts with the veteran's VA primary care team, who decide on a referral
- Usually no cost for eligible veterans, or a copay depending on income

Ask the VA care team about home care at the next visit. These programs can often be combined with Aid & Attendance.

> Tip: countable income for Aid & Attendance is figured after subtracting care costs, so many families who assume they're over the limit qualify once the cost of care is counted.

DOCUMENTS THAT HELP

- DD-214 or other discharge papers
- Marriage certificate, for a surviving spouse
- Recent bank and income statements
- A doctor's statement about daily care needs
- Current care bills, including ours
- Policy and benefit letters

VA rules and limits change every year. Confirm current figures at va.gov or with a Veterans Service Officer, which is free.
