COMING HOME FROM THE HOSPITAL OR REHAB

The first days home matter most.

The first 72 hours home carry the highest risk of a fall or a trip back to the hospital. A caregiver in those first days helps your loved one get home safely and get their strength back.

WHAT RECOVERY USUALLY LOOKS LIKE

Needs are highest at the start, and taper as they heal.

First 48 hours

Getting settled safely

Getting in the door, to the bathroom and into bed safely. New medications, follow-up appointments and the doctor's instructions put in place.

Week one

Comfort and routine

Pain management, safe bathing, good food and enough to drink, and a gentle walking routine.

Weeks two to four

Getting strength back

The goal shifts to building strength, needing less help, and doing more for themselves.

HOW WE HELP

Personal Care, for as long as it's needed.

- Help getting in and out of bed, the shower and the car
- Bathing and dressing safely, at their pace
- Medication reminders on the new schedule
- Meals, groceries, laundry and a tidy, clear path
- Rides to follow-up appointments, and we stay with them
- A note after every visit, so changes get noticed early

As they recover, you can lower the hours or move to Wellness Care. If nights are the worry, add Overnight Care for the first week or two.

CALL THE DOCTOR IF YOU SEE

Warning signs after a hospital stay

- A fever
- New confusion
- More swelling
- Shortness of breath
- Suddenly unable to walk or bear weight

Call 911 for an emergency. Our caregivers watch for changes and let the family know.

BEFORE YOU LEAVE THE HOSPITAL

Questions worth asking before discharge.

Bring this page. Write the answers in the space below each one.

MEDICATIONS

Which medicines are new, changed or stopped? When is each one taken?

APPOINTMENTS

When is the first follow-up visit, and with whom? Any therapy at home?

ACTIVITY

What should they avoid? Can they shower, climb stairs, drive?

WHO TO CALL

Who do we call with questions after hours? What would mean coming back?

HELPFUL AT HOME

Equipment to ask about

- A shower chair or tub bench
- Grab bars by the toilet and shower
- A raised toilet seat
- A walker or cane, if the therapist recommends one
- Night lights from the bed to the bathroom

TALK IT THROUGH AS A FAMILY

Before the first night home

- Who will help with appointments?
- Who manages medications day to day?
- Who checks in daily, and who is the emergency contact?
- What happens overnight if something goes wrong?

Call us before discharge day if you can.

It gives us time to meet you, build the care plan and work on the right caregiver match. If they're already home, call anyway. A real person answers, day or night.

$32 /hour

Most families start with Personal Care after a hospital stay, then lower the hours as they recover. A minimum of 4 hours per visit and 8 hours per week. Ways to pay include private pay, long-term care insurance and VA benefits.
